Take a dive

Female skydivers are wanted for a record attempt at Toogoolawah, Queensland. In April 2011, the third Skysisters convention includes plans to break four Australian and two world records, and they need female skydivers from around Australia to join in. "There's more to this awe-inspiring event than simply breaking records," says organiser Susie McLachlan. "The spirited women taking part are planning fun activities such as keyword and picture jumps, body-painted jumps and aerial fashion photo shoots. There will be TV broadcasts, show bags, fashion shows, video festivals, nightly entertainment, filming of a documentary and much more."
